A graduate of Washington University School of Dental Medicine, Dr. Duane Keller has maintained a private practice in St. Louis, MO treating mainly periodontal disease and chronic pain. Dr. Keller has served eight years as the chairperson for the IAO education committee. He has been a consultant for state dental boards, professional education associations and St. Louis University's Chronic Pain Center. As the chief scientific officer for Perio Protect, LLC Dr. Keller has been presenting to national and international audiences for over 20 years. He has published over 35 scientific articles and has patented numerous dental appliances including FDA clearance for a subgingival device to treat periodontal disease which is known as the Perio Protect System.

Bryan Keropian practices in Tarzana, CA and is considered by many to be the foremost authority on the treatment of sleep disorders. Sleep disorders caused by breathing problems (sleep apnea) have become a major growth area for dentists, since physicians prefer to refer these patients to dentists after they understand what trained dentists can do for this problem. Dr. Keropian has patented several treatment appliances for obstructive sleep apnea and received FDA approval for their use. He has held several administrative positions in various dental organizations and is a consultant for insurance companies, as well as being a former instructor at USC School of Dentistry.
